NARRATIVE

On July 17th, 2018 I responded to a priority assault at Providence Pacific Campus 916 Pacific Ave. The location of the call was on the 7th floor which is a Fairfax mental health unit. Upon arrival I was met by a staff member who took me into the secure unit. She showed me the classroom where this incident took place. I noticed beads and art supplies all over the floor.

I spoke to staff and the victim [REDACTED] told me he was evaluating patient [REDACTED]. During the conversation [REDACTED] suddenly became extremely upset. He started throwing chairs then turned his attention to [REDACTED]. He threw a chair at [REDACTED]. He then attacked [REDACTED] by punching his face. [REDACTED] fell to the ground during the assault. His lips and neck were cut by the assault. At the time I spoke to [REDACTED] he was placing ice on his injury. [REDACTED]'s hands were shaking. [REDACTED] was obviously upset by the assault. The assault ended when other staff responded and restrained [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] said he wished to press charges. [REDACTED] is a nurse at Fairfax. Based on [REDACTED]'s employment as a nurse and the assault [REDACTED] committed I found probable cause for assault three.

[REDACTED] observed the assault via video. She alerted the other staff members of the assault. [REDACTED] said she heard a loud noise. She looked at the monitor and saw [REDACTED] throw a chair at [REDACTED]. She said [REDACTED] charged [REDACTED] and started punching him.

I was told by other staff members they would collect the video from this incident and make it available for this case.

I took photos of [REDACTED], the classroom and later of [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] completed written statements.

I took [REDACTED] into custody without incident. I read Constitutional Rights to him, he understood.

I transported [REDACTED] to the Snohomish County jail. There the jail nurse asked for a medical clearance for booking due to a hand injury. This injury occurred yesterday when [REDACTED] repeatedly punched a wall. His knuckles were bloody on both hands. His left hand was swollen. At the hospital it was determined [REDACTED] did not have any broken bones. [REDACTED] did not sustain any new injuries today.

I transported [REDACTED] back to the jail where he was booked for assault 3.

Nothing further.
